

Announcements for October 26

- Lab 06 is due on WEDNESDAY . This week's lab (Lab 07) will be due on Tuesday next week, as usual. There is no prelab for Lab 07.
- Here is an announcement from Marcelo Vincas of the CLEAR center:

I will be leading a course this Winter Term called Science Skills for First Years.

The Science Skills for First Years Winter Term is a course designed to fortify the preparation of first year students (open to sophomores too) who have intentions to major in math and the natural sciences. This course will combine study skills as well as practical and crosscutting skills in the lab and on the computer. We will also have the opportunity to do some career and professional development, in the form of sessions, visitors, and field trips.
